JOHN D'S. BIRTHDAY

HAIRLESS, TOOTHLESS OLD MAN MERE CONTRIVANCE OF
SKIN AND BONE

Many people celebrated their birthdays Thursday, July 8. It is ten chances to one that nine-tenths of them had a jollier time than did John D. Rockefeller, who also celebrated his natal day on that date. John was born July 8, 1839, at Richford, N. Y. He is therefore 76 years of age.

John is getting to be very feeble nowadays. When last he appeared before a government commission with reference to the trouble with the miners in his Colorado mines, he was very shaky. However, his physician is constantly by his side and staves off any threatened illness.

This enormously rich man, who is credited with the possession of two billion dollars, and who could endow millionaires at the rate of one every week from his income, is a hairless, toothless old man, a mere contrivance of skin and bone. With the aid of the dentist and the wigmaker he is fixed up and made presentable and potters around his private golf links every now and then, after which his subsidized newspapers speak enthusiastically of his performance.

Whatever hilarity may have prevailed at the family reunion Thursday, John could have had little share in the good things, as he lives chiefly on milk and toast. He has now rounded out his estate at Tarrytown until it is a very large domain, including some of the best acreage in that country, taking in some of the old historic spots mentioned in Washington's "Rip Van Winkle" and "Sleepy Hollow."

For years a sturdy Swede called Melin maintained a little homestead in the midst of the land that Rockefeller was gradually acquiring all around Tarrytown - on the Hudson. John D. coveted the poor man's ground and made him various offers, none of which, it is said, in any way approximated the real value of "Naboth's Vineyard," as the place came to be called in allusion to the famous scriptural story. The valiant old Swede, a man who had sailed many a wintry sea, and who had a marvelous collection of curios in his home, refused to sell out at Rockefeller's price. He was consequently subjected to constant surveillance by detectives and annoyed in many ways, but he held out until at last his vigilance giving way with his health, John got the better of him and got his little property out of his hands.

Now, on his birthday, Rockefeller can look over an unbroken stretch of country far as the eye can reach and call it his own, but happiness and great possessions are not synonymous terms, so that on July 8 there were probably many poor people who celebrated their natal anniversaries with more joy and enjoyment than John, the Great.

WILD DESERT FRUIT

STRAWBERRY TOMATO GROWS
ALL OVER FIELDS—MIGHT BE CULTIVATED

Scattered all over the waste fields of Glendale and its vicinity is a miniature bush which cannot fail to attract attention. In the fields overgrown with towering wild plants of all kinds this modest little bush, however, often passes unnoticed.

There are several varieties of this attractive natural production. Some call it the ground cherry, others the strawberry tomato, and by others again it is known as the Cape gooseberry.

Mr. Freeman Kelley, the florist, has some specimens of the Cape gooseberry growing in his garden. The original specimen was brought over from Australia by Mrs. Kelley among a great many other curious plants and was one of the few that survived.

This interesting dessert fruit is botanically known as Physalis Peruviana. It is called Physalis, from physa, a bladder, the fruit being enclosed in an outer envelope like a bladder. It belongs to the natural order of Solanaceae, the same to which the potato, the tomato and the tobacco plant belong. The species that grows in Australia and in South Africa is Physalis Peruviana. The California species is Physalis Alkekengi, the strawberry tomato. This semi-fruit, semi-vegetable, has a peculiarly tart flavor, something between a strawberry and a tomato, and makes an excellent dessert fruit. In the middle west states it is commonly called the ground cherry.

Another wild plant that has been domesticated and grown with great success by Mr. Kelley is the Pentstemon Cordifolius, one of the natural order of Scrophulariaceae. This handsome flower can be found growing in the neighborhood of Kenneth road. Its handsome red blossoms make a pleasing patch of color in a garden.

THE BONUS VOTE OFFER

ENDS JULY 15—FRIENDS AND HARD WORK DETERMINING
SUCCESS OF CANDIDATES

Many inquiries are being made as to the success of the contestants in the Evening News subscription contest. Two items are figuring very strongly in determining the success of those who are working for the $850 Maxwell touring car, the $400 Schiller piano and the other prizes. These items are first, the real hard work that certain contestants are doing and the second item is the ability they have of bringing their friends to their assistance. To win an $850 touring car is worth doing some real steady work. It also calls for assistance of friends. There is not a contestant in this race but has at some time befriended others. A kind act has been done at a time that it greatly aided the one in need, and now comes a time for a practice of reciprocity, the time when it is possible for friends to rally to the aid of a contestant and make it possible for him or her to procure a valuable touring car.

It is fair to say that the line-up of the contestants is just in accordance with the work that they are doing. That is the way it is with all kinds of business in which we engage. We succeed in proportion to the interest we show and hard work we do.

The extra vote offer ends next Thursday, July 15, at 9 o'clock p. m. The contestants who take advantage of the extra votes during the next four days will give themselves a start that will be difficult for other candidates to overcome.

Bonus Vote Offer

Fifty thousand extra votes will be given with every club of six new subscriptions turned into the Evening News office for the Glendale Evening News or the Tri-City Progress before Thursday evening, July 15. These votes are in addition to the regular votes issued. All new subscriptions already turned in by candidates will count in this offer.

PINK HONOR LUNCHEON

Delicately decorated in pink, the handsome rooms of the residence of Mrs. W. E. Evans, 113 Orange street, were the scene of a most enjoyable luncheon of twelve covers Friday. The luncheon was in honor of Miss Mayme Jackson of Kentucky, Mrs. Emil F. Tholen, who has just returned from abroad, and Mrs. Lucius Phillips of Los Angeles.

The living-room was tastefully adorned with masses of hydrangeas and pink roses; the light shades were pink and the bonbon boxes were pink roses in conventional cards. The centerpiece was a large cut glass bowl filled with pink roses. Following were the guests: Miss Mayme Jackson, Mrs. Emil F. Tholen, Mrs. Lucius Phillips, Mrs. John G. Hunchberger, Mrs. A. W. Tower, Mrs. W. Traeger, Mrs. Charles H. Temple, Mrs. Walter Stamps and Miss Bertha Jackson.

MEET IN NEW QUARTERS

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEM-BERS DISCUSS MANY THINGS
OF GENERAL INTEREST

The regular monthly meeting of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce was held in the new quarters at 1011 West Broadway on Friday evening. The meeting convened promptly at 7:45, with J. W. Usilton, president of the organization, presiding, and R. M. Jackson, the newly elected secretary performing his duties.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved. The president delivered his monthly address, which is as follows:

To the Chamber of Commerce: Gentlemen: Leasing this room and fitting it up, we believe will be an effective way of doing a vast amount of good and assist in building the organization up to a higher state of excellence. A comfort station should be furnished in the small room in the rear for ladies and should be provided with necessary accessories. The location is good and visitors will obtain a hearty welcome from our genial secretary and such information about the vicinity as they may desire. To properly furnish it is the problem which we have to solve.

City Manager Watson's recommendations anent salaries, consolidation of offices and general retrenchment to the city trustees, their assistance in financing the preparation of a float to represent the city in Los Angeles on Wednesday of next week, and installation of drinking fountains should be a source of gratification to this body.

There will be many visitors to Glendale the coming week and individually and collectively every effort should be made to entertain them, and it is suggested that those owning autos should volunteer their services in showing the desirableness of the city and point out the various advantages it has over other places from a residence and other standpoints. It has been an expensive proposition to decorate the city and prepare for the Elks' convention and citizens should decorate their homes with flags and bunting—merchants especially should be interested in this feature.

A banquet should be given by our welfare committee and a number invited from one of the nearby cities. Having recently attended two banquets at the Glendale sanitarium, I would state with particular pride that their cuisine and service is excellent and, if they will consent, a large number can be accommodated in their spacious dining halls. We believe that this is a good method to become better acquainted with home people and the out-of-town guests will give the city publicity.

The building inspector's report indicates business activity which should be hailed with delight, as it is giving employment to the various trades and that means prosperity for our business men.

Annexation of Glendale to Los Angeles is rife in that city, but very little sentiment has been observed favorable to such procedure here. Claiming that this is not a political question, it is thought this organization should go on record regarding it. The reason for advocating this step is that we believe constant agitation tends to disquiet and does not inure to the benefit of Glendale.

The secretary, R. M. Jackson, upon request of the president, stated that the room in which the meeting is being held has been rented by the executive board and it will be open all hours of the day to members of the Chamber of Commerce, other citizens and visitors who wish to rest, write letters or gain information about Glendale or other places in Southern California. It is the intention of the secretary to erect a place on which to place exhibits of products not only of Glendale, but of the surrounding country. Other Chambers of Commerce will be asked to furnish literature, which will be handed out to persons applying for the same.

George T. Paine reported that in an interview with H. B. Lynch, manager of the public service department of the city of Glendale, he had been informed that the drinking fountains would be installed immediately.

The secretary read a communication from the Chamber of Commerce at Redondo inviting the Glendale Chamber of Commerce to visit Redondo and the day the visit is made shall be known as Glendale day at Redondo Beach. A motion prevailed that the invitation be accepted.

At the suggestion of the secretary, a motion prevailed that the secretary procure printed postal cards, the same to be mailed to the secretaries of the Chambers of Commerce in adjoining cities asking that literature advertising their respective localities be forwarded to the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, the same to be (Continued on Page 2)

FAITH "MOTIF" OF PLAY

MARJORIE RAMBEAU DESCRIBES
"MIRACLE MARY" FOR EVENING NEWS

Believing that the great American public is tired of problem plays—plays of the underworld and dramas that exploit corrupt society—Willard Mack, the famous playwright, who is making such a success in writing and staging moving picture plays, has taken time in the midst of his exacting work to write for his gifted actress wife, Marjorie Rambeau, a new legitimate drama, the central "motif" of which is the power of faith. This striking drama with a human uplift lesson is likely to take the stage-weary public by storm by reason of its sweet humanity and its strong religious undertone.

"Miracle Mary," the new play, is based largely on the mighty force of faith as a factor in common life. It will be as powerfully appealing in its teaching as the most inspired sermon ever conceived by a great preacher.

"I believe that the uplifting power of my new play will have far-reaching effects," said Marjorie Rambeau to a representative of the Glendale Evening News Friday night. "Some friendly critics to whom the play has been described think it has tendencies toward Christian Science, but it has a much wider scope than that. Its central lesson is the triumph of Christian faith. It is comprehensive enough in the wideness of its Christian tolerance to embrace all shades of religious opinion and will have a mighty appeal to that large section of the community which has somehow got outside of the influence of the churches.

"It is absolutely non-sectarian and wholly Christian. My husband and I have arrived at the opinion that the time is ripe to make this appeal to higher feelings than the questionable emotions evoked by many of the so-called 'society' plays and a great many others which deal with unworthy phases of modern life.

"Miracle Mary is the name of the heroine. She is a Salvation Army woman, whose chosen field of work is the Cherry street barracks in New York City, among the wretchedness, poverty, crime and drunkenness that characterize that haunt of fallen humanity and of men and women who have never had a chance. Here Miracle Mary labors with that intensity of unselfish devotion which at last makes her a marvelous power among the lost community to which she has given her life.

"Idaho Joe, the central male character in the drama, is a wretched creature on whom the grace of divine power has fallen through Mary's influence. He becomes a Christian and forsakes evil ways. Mary's influence is exerted strongly against the abominable stool-pigeon system that incites to crime and Joe, as her protégé, is a special mark for the malice of the corrupt gang interested in the maintenance of the system. They manage to fasten a crime on Joe.

"The second act shows the courtroom where Joe is on trial. The case is not strong against him, but in spite of all that can be alleged in his favor, the jury brings in a verdict of 'guilty.' Poor Joe is overwhelmed. He cannot understand. Mary assures him that this is only meant as a trial of his faith and tells him as he is taken away, 'Hold your faith, Joe. God has his own purpose in this trial of your faith. Believe still. Hold your faith.'

"The last act shows the prison at Christmas time. Mary is working among the prisoners. She speaks to Joe. He is downcast and inclined to doubt. 'What's the use of talking,' he says. 'I'm here in prison; a 'thin' can change that.' 'Yes,' says Mary, 'God can change it. You will be released. How I don't know, but you will; my faith tells me so.' Then, to be brief, comes the crisis in the play. The 'miracle' from which Mary gets her name. Moving pictures have been provided for the Christmas entertainment. As the pictures are thrown on the screen a view of an aviation meet is shown and there in the midst of the crowd is the picture of Joe, proving for him a complete alibi at the time the crime was committed. The curtain falls on a most powerful scene. Joe falls on his knees and the whole of the spectators are praying.

"The play will have wonderfully realistic setting. Apart from the leading characters there will be fifty 'supers' carefully trained and all in keeping with their surroundings. The leading actor, who takes the part of Joe, is Louis Bannison, who is a powerful and experienced interpreter of character.

"I believe that this play will reach with its simple teaching that large class who never hear a sermon. The mission of the stage is to help to uplift humanity, to show the best side of life. This drama will reach the

MOVES OF THE ELKS

EVERY TRAIN BRINGS DETACH-MENTS OF BRETHREN
TO LOS ANGELES

As train after train arrives in Los Angeles the gathering hosts of the great body of Elks begin to fill the city with light, laughter, happiness and hospitality. Good fellowship is everywhere and on all hands one hears the hail-fellow-well-met recognition between the brethren. Friends who have not seen each other for years are being reunited; friends who see each other every year at the annual convention are glad to see each other again.

The official registration bureau was opened this morning in the rear main floor of the Pacific Electric building, Sixth and Main streets. All Elks of Glendale and San Fernando Valley should register at once in order to get badges for themselves and ladies. In the same office also they will receive the books that will entitle them to take part in all entertainments of the week.

It is believed that the electrical parade to be held next Tuesday night, will be the most brilliant and original ever organized. Not the least gorgeous and striking among the floats will be that entered by the Elks. Their float will be manned by caballeros in costly apparel and will be attended by mounted knights in attractive array.

Grand Exalted Ruler Raymond Benjamin arrived in Los Angeles yesterday and was escorted to the Hotel Alexandria, official headquarters for the grand lodge. In conjunction with Fred C. Robinson, grand secretary; Charles A. White, grand treasurer; Lloyd R. Maxwell, grand esteemed leading knight; William F. Schad, grand esteemed lecturing knight; the Rev. John Dysant, grand chaplain, and other grand lodge officials, the grand exalted ruler assisted in the dedication of the Elks' home at Riverside.

The massed band parade will start Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock. The parade will march from First and Broadway, south to Sixteenth and Hill. This will be a most interesting sight as many of the bands are famous organizations.

One of the most attractive features of the Wednesday morning floral parade, which starts from Sixteenth and Hill streets at 10 a. m., will be the Richmond Blues, a light infantry battalion of the Virginia National Guards. The Blues were organized in May 1789 and have been in active muster ever since. They are coming to the Pacific coast as escort to the governor of Virginia, on a special train Tuesday morning. They will remain two days. There are four companies in the battalion and they are well worth seeing, not only on account of their historical associations and their striking uniforms, but also on account of their soldierly bearing and perfect drill.

ELKS OPEN REST ROOM

With that thoughtfulness for others which is a leading principle of the order of Elks and which has always characterized the lodge in Glendale, the brethren of No. 1289 have opened headquarters at 214 Mercantile place, Los Angeles. This is a large room on the ground floor and as Mercantile place is a kind of reserved street, where vehicles are not supposed to run, it should be very convenient for use as a rest room.

The Glendale brethren invite all citizens of Glendale to make use of this room. Every attention will be given ladies and children and all that is possible done to make them feel at home there during the coming week.

DR CAR

Specifications before, but you read them again as a reminder really is:

Stains; real leather upholstery; natural curled hair; stream-lined fenders; 30-35 h. p. bloc motor; full-floating rear axle; Timken imported Swiss ball bearings in water-proof Eisenmann magnetos.

non-churchgoer. When the churches of New York to some degree acted in unison with the stage, the success they met with in their work of uplift was wonderful. I am sure it would be the same everywhere. The church with all its power for good may not be able to apply the old truths to many cases. They may not know every way in which humanity may be approached. The stage can open up new avenues of thought that may be the road to better things to many. That, at least, is what Mr. Mack and I hope for as a result of this new play."

ITALY AT THE FRONT

It has always been said that the Italian soldier is "temperamental." In that respect he is similar to what has always been said of the French soldiers. It has been prophesied that after the first rush of the fresh Italian troops across the border of the lost provinces a check would come and they would be thrown back. The check has been applied without doubt, but the Italians do not seem to have been affected in the least by it.

It was the same with the French. The seriousness of the war seems to have changed the whole nature of the nation. It was prophesied by the Germans that the French would be swept off their feet in the first rush on Paris. Formidable as that first rush was, and it was a rush in which Germany put forth all her strength and has never been able to equal since, the French steadied themselves down before it and took a fresh grip on their souls and went forward, with the result that the Germans are practically on the defensive now in Belgium.

It does not do to underrate one's opponent. As the Germans discovered in the case of the French, the Austrians are discovering that the Italian nature is no longer the kind that halts at the first check. Human nature is peculiar. It has depths in it that are not often discovered except when some storm on the great deeps of life brings them to light. Then it is not always possible for the utmost of human malice to work out the dreams of its plotting.

There is a limit beyond which human malice cannot go. God has set bounds to the lengths to which human arrogance can reach and whenever some mighty conqueror has said loudly to himself and to his people, like Nebuchadnezzar of old, "Is not this Great Babylon that I have built?" the divine power has answered, "Thus far shalt thou go and no farther" and sent him out to the fields to eat grass.

Italy may regret some day having entered the great war, but it is doubtful if she could have helped herself. Her borders are too near the scene of conflict and her interests are too much bound up with those of other nations to make it possible to have avoided war. When Italy shall have retaken her stolen provinces and when the war is at an end, her compensation will lie in her added territory and in the curtailment of Austrian arrogant aggression on her borders. If those things can compensate her for what she will lose in the destruction of the best of her manhood, then she will come out with gain.

GREECE HELD IN CHECK

Without doubt there is something contagious in the war spirit. The sight of the dead, the awful spectacle of the wounded, the blackened and crumbling walls, the ruined cathedrals, the devastated homes, the weeping women and wailing children—might be supposed to exercise a wholesome hatred of war which causes such sights of dread and sounds of anguish. Such, however, is not the case. The nations of Europe that are not in the fight already are all anxious to join.

Nothing could keep back Italy and nothing has held back Greece up to this moment except the fact that King Constantine's wife, Queen Sophia, is a sister of the kaiser and a strong pro-German as might be expected. The queen's influence has been thrown strongly against any movement in Greece to join forces with the British allies; and she has been successful up to this moment.

It does not follow, however, that this will always be the case. King Constantine has been seriously ill. His sickness, attributed to pleurisy, was probably caused by an attempt on his life by an assassin. Just at that moment the popular feeling in Greece was for war on the side of Britain, France and Belgium, but in deference to the king's known desires, the war feeling was suppressed.

Now that the king is better it will be difficult for him, much as the queen may urge such policy, to prevent the nation from rushing into war on the side of the British allies. The people are heart and soul for war; so is the crown prince, who will probably lead the Greek forces; so is Premier Venezelos, recently elected by an overwhelming majority by the war party. The crown prince is ready to challenge his uncle, the kaiser, and avenge the wrongs inflicted on Greece by Germany during the war with Turkey. All these things combined tend to throw the Greek into the war and they may be counted on to put up a stiff fight.

Those who think that the war in Europe will come to an end before long have only to look at what is happening in Mexico to see how far distant is the time when the world may look for peace.

Its industries, such as they are, are being destroyed. Its fields are untilled; its gardens are neglected. The various armies that are fighting each other are not of the various armies that are fighting each other. They have endeared themselves to the whole country by their spirit of wide tolerance, their love of justice, and their hopeful and optimistic outlook. It does a community good to have those whole-souled brethren in their midst. From every Elks' lodge in the land there radiates a light of sanity, a spirit of succor and an atmosphere of genuine good humor and wholesome fun that does the world good. Glendale will do well to turn out in goodly numbers on Monday to welcome the visiting Elks and make them feel that their good works are appreciated here.

distributed to persons interested in such literature.

Chairman Usilton said he had attended two banquets at the Glendale sanitarium and he was so pleased with the accommodations and the service rendered that he thinks it would be a good plan for the Chamber of Commerce to arrange to hold their next banquet at the sanitarium. He suggested that in addition to our own members, we invite a stated number of members from the Pasadena, Long Beach or some neighboring Chamber of Commerce. Attorney Albert D. Pearce, speaking along this line, said he favors the holding of such a banquet and suggested that the committees appointed for the extension of Brand boulevard to Los Angeles be invited and that this question be taken up for discussion at such a meeting. Mr. Pearce thinks it would be a good plan to invite the board of county supervisors and the members of the Los Angeles city council to be in attendance at the banquet, as all of these bodies are interested in the extension of Brand boulevard. Attorney W. E. Evans is of the opinion that the Brand boulevard extension committee should have two lawyers added to their committee and made a motion to that effect. The motion prevailed and the chair announced that Attorneys C. L. Chandler and Mattison B. Jones be the new members of the committee. J. C. Sherer spoke enthusiastically in favor of a banquet, stating that it would be of great value in getting the people of Glendale together and thus allowing them to become better acquainted. George T. Paine, who was present at the last meeting of the Brand boulevard extension committee at Tropic, said that there is no hurry about getting together on the proposed extension of Brand boulevard until members of the committee now at work obtain right-of-way permissions from certain heavy property owners.

On motion the question of holding a banquet was referred to the welfare committee.

John R. Barrows addressed the meeting at length on the subject of everybody boosting for the Brand boulevard extension. He is of the opinion that it is not only the duty of the committee to work for the opening of Brand boulevard south from Tropic to Los Angeles, but every citizen of Glendale should be enlisted to use his influence whenever possible to bring about a speedy completion of this extension. Mr. Barrows also suggested that a more harmonious spirit be cultivated among the people of Glendale. He said as conditions are at present, Glendale has good water, Glendale has well improved streets, Glendale has beautiful homes, but he has to be careful how he mentions these favorable features, as there are citizens who deny that there is beauty in anything in Glendale.

The clause in President Usilton's address relating to annexation to Los Angeles brought forth considerable discussion. However, a member suggested that no action be taken on this question until such time as there will be a full attendance at a Chamber of Commerce meeting. Probably the date of the next banquet will be an opportune time to present Mr. Usilton's recommendation for endorsement.

T. W. Watson presented to the Chamber of Commerce the condition of Verdugo wash at a point west of where the Glendale avenue road joins the Verdugo road. Mr. Watson said that although the channel of the wash had been cleared out since the great flood of February, 1914, yet smaller floods during the fall of 1914 and the winter of 1915 had caused the channel to become completely filled up again and the safety of the property south of the wash demands that steps be taken to have the channel cleaned out before the season of rain sets in. The cleaning out of this channel is too expensive for the city to do the work without a special arrangement for defraying the expense. He requested that the president of the Chamber of Commerce appoint a committee to visit the wash and report as to the best methods of raising money for cleaning out the channel. In compliance with this motion the chair appointed John R. Barrows as chairman of the committee. Mr. Barrows might select to visit the wash and make such suggestions as might seem appropriate.

Members present who participated in the discussions at the evening whose names have not already been mentioned were J. W. Pearson, G. B. Woodberry, A. T. Cowan, J. F. Lilly and John Roman.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Doyle wish to express their gratitude to their many friends and the people of Glendale in general for the assistance rendered in their recent loss by fire. Words cannot express our feelings, but it will be a source of happiness to remember the kindness and generosity, not only of our personal friends and acquaintances, whom we can thank individually, but the general public who can be reached only through the columns of the Evening News.

MR. and MRS. GEO. E. DOYLE.

The murderous attack on J. P. Morgan hasn't stopped the European war. The rational man realizes the futility of attempting to promote peace through assassination.

TROPICO

There was a large attendance at the regular semi-monthly meeting of N. P. Banks W. R. C. Friday afternoon. Commander G. W. Sanford and Comrades J. J. Weiler, J. B. Hickman and T. C. Gillett of N. P. Banks Post were present to witness the beautiful ritualistic ceremonies that admitted to membership in the Corps Miss Marjorie Imler, daughter of Mrs. Adelaide H. Imler, the Corps president, and granddaughter of J. B. Hickman, and Miss Daphne Mae Burlingham, daughter of Mrs. Mae Burlingham, past Corps president, and of Burt Burlingham, chaplain of N. P. Banks camp, Sons of Veterans, and granddaughter of the late Nathan Burlingham and A. D. Haggood, members of the Post, and also of Mrs. Delia Haggood, past department chaplain. It is an unusual as well as a rare occurrence in the Corps for a mother to confer an obligation upon a daughter, and that of Friday was all the more interesting. Another distinction that marked the ceremonies of Friday afternoon was that Miss Imler and Miss Burlingham are the youngest members in the department of California and Nevada of the Woman's Relief Corps. Mrs. Ada Atkinson, conductor, and Mrs. Margaret Sanford, assistant conductor assisted at the ceremonies.

Mrs. Samuel A. Pollock will entertain the Kensington club at her home on West Park avenue Wednesday afternoon complimentary to her sisters, Mrs. Wesley Simons of Philadelphia and Mrs. Emery Gates of San Francisco, who are her guests. Mrs. Pollock will be graciously assisted by her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Kasseal, in extending hospitality to the club.

Mrs. E. H. Baird and daughter, Miss E. Arlene Baird of Dyersburg, Tenn., will arrive shortly for a two months' visit as the guests of Mrs. Baird's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Spafford. Dr. Baird will join Mrs. Baird and daughter later in the summer. One of the pleasant features of Dr. and Mrs. Baird's visit to California will be a visit to the two expositions in San Diego and San Francisco.

Mrs. G. L. Veatch and children, Misses Helen and Cynthia Veatch, and Phillip Veatch, of Oak Park, Ill., near Chicago, who are spending the summer in Los Angeles as the guests of Mrs. Veatch's mother are frequent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Prialux of West Park avenue. Mrs. Prialux and Mrs. Veatch are sisters and the reunion of the mother and two daughters is truly a most happy one.

Mrs. C. M. Scott of Glendale avenue has returned from a most delightful outing of two weeks, which was enjoyed at Camp Baldy as the guest of Mrs. H. J. Beach of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Emma M. Hill of Oklahoma City, Okla., will arrive the first of the week for an extended visit to her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hill of 212 1/2 South Brand boulevard. Mrs. Hill will also visit her mother, Mrs. Emma Bodwell of Corona.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hammond of East Cypress street have returned from a pleasant three days' outing at Laguna Beach, where they motored as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Carpenter of Los Angeles.

DRILL TEAMS TO COMPETE

Among the rival drill teams which will be representative of the elite of Elkdom at the competitive drill to be held at Exposition park, Los Angeles, Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, one of the most presentable will be the Glendale White Squadron Patrol.
The prize is $300.

Ten teams, possibly more, will be in this competition and many wonderful and intricate evolutions will delight the eyes of drill experts. All eyes will doubtless be on the famous Oaklands, who won first prize last year at Denver.

Glendale should turn out in large numbers to give support to its local team. In the face of the redoubtable and formidable competitors drawn from the picked men of the whole country, the local lodge team will need all the encouragement it can obtain.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

(By Rev. R. W. Mottern)
Topic Sunday, July 11, "Making Life Worth Living" (Luke 12:13-23).
Consecration meeting.

Bible Help
A poor rich man, II Cor. 6:10.
True treasures, Matt. 19:25.
Care-free life, Phil. 4:4-9.
Divine wisdom, Prov. 8:10-23.
Labors of love, I Thess. 1:1-7.
How to do it, II Tim. 4:1-8.

Seed Notes
Life is the most serious thing with which we have to do. It is the sacred burden we carry until the grave. It is the gift of God handed down from generation to generation, going on until the end of time. It is so important God forbids its destruction—
"thou shalt not kill." None of us is responsible for being here, but the oncoming generations in moral, industrial, commercial and civic conditions will be the inheritors of what we pass on to them. Hence it behooves us today to hold not only right relations with life and understand its conditions, the influences that shape it, its powers—both moral and civic—and its destiny, but also how that life has to do with material things all about it for good or evil.

Now it is noticeable that every life that is to tell for good and make an impress of moral worth must have the right kind of ideals before it.
All centered in self or in God determines the entire after glow. Living for self, one lives in vain; living for Christ or God, you live again, honored, blessed, duplicated and glorified. For the selfish life is short-sighted; it counts not on tomorrow;
only gratification for the wants of the day. It is aimless, inferior, weak and minus that true, upright equipoise that shows one every inch a man.

The dignity of man's high-born estate is that he not only is immortal
but that he constantly keeps eternity in view. He puts into life all he has of moral worth. He gives the best he has and in return he receives the very best that God can give him.
And were every man living such an unselfish life, thinking of others to the glory of God and the advancement of his kingdom, and all men were just like him, this very earth
on which we live would be a "paradise regained."

Now to have "success" or "money"
as our goal minus a high aim, without regard to character, life's end will find us in lament. For the greatest concern of every man and woman is not whether they fail or succeed, whether they are rich or poor, but that they do their duty, both to God and the state; the rest will follow.

An incentive to right living, that which is worth while, is to hold before the mind's eye the thought that he is not to live long. Then with the grace of God he will make his life count. He will follow Christ—God's pattern—and like him make his soul
of more importance than his body.
A life ready to give account any minute is a success.

DR. WALKER TO LECTURE

Dr. William H. Walker has been engaged to deliver his well-known series of lectures on "The Tabernacle
in the Wilderness or the Gospel According to Moses," Sunday evenings

during July at the First Baptist church. Mr. Walker has received thousands of testimonials to the spiritual value and knowledge of his work along this important line. Few students of the Bible equal him. The First Baptist church of Glendale is indeed fortunate in making this engagement. All Bible students of the valley are welcome to attend.

At the morning service Pastor Troy will preach on "God." A gifted young singing evangelist will assist Rev.
Troy Sunday morning. Mr. Taylor will sing several of his popular selections. Mr. Cunningham will be in charge of the choir during the summer months.

Sunday school at the usual hour of 9:30. Mr. Kent, superintendent.

SPECIALTY OF FORD WORK

O. C. LANE

Burbank Ford Agency and Service Station

Sunset 42-J-3, Home 121

"All Cats look grey— at Night!"

"JUST Rubber and Canvass—pumped full of air!"
So thinks the Tire User who buys Pneumatics "Blind," without comparison after thorough investigation.
So thinks the Car Owner
who buys from the Cut Price Dealer, the "just as good" Tire
on which that Dealer quotes

him the biggest discount off a Price List specially printed up for that purpose.
So thinks the Man whose Tire bill averages nearly half of his entire Season's running expense, when it need not average one-fourth, if he would only "Work his head" and, once for all, learn the Tire Game.

THERE are Car Owners who regularly get 25% to 50% MORE Mileage, per Dollar invested in Tires, than do the Owners of other Cars driven with equal care, under equivalent road conditions.

The latter type of Owner is apt to conclude offhand (from his own experience) that all Tires must be Short-lived and Unsatisfactory.

Now this is to tell him that there is as much difference between the Mileage and Resilience of different brands of Tires, when the facts are investigated, and proven through actual Service, as there is difference between the Color of Cats—when viewed by Daylight.

This is to inform him that three Rubber Factories using precisely the same quantity and quality of Materials might, and sometimes do, produce (through the difference in their Rubber EXPERIENCE and efficiency methods) Tires of such widely different Mileage-Results as average 3000 Miles, 4000 Miles, and 5000 Miles respectively—under parallel road conditions.

COST of production is therefore no sure guide to the Mileage and Resilience which can be put into such a subtle and "temperamental" product as the Rubber in a Pneumatic Tire.

And, though The B. F. Goodrich Co.
can, and does, put the most Mileage per Dollar invested by the User, into Goodrich Safety-Tread Tires, they do not interpret this as a reason why they should charge a higher price, to include an Insurance Premium which would place their "Adjustment Basis" beyond the safe and reasonable minimum that Bad Roads and Careless Driving make necessary.

Because of its Manufacturing Advantages, its Precision Methods, and Waste-reducing Processes (resulting from its 45 years' EXPERIENCE in the working of Rubber), The B. F. Goodrich Co. can afford to and does, offer the greatest Mileage in Tires at the lowest price per Mile.

It sells the standard grade of Goodrich Safety Tires at 10% to 30% lower prices than other non-skid brands which "Guarantee" greater Mileage but cannot prove delivery of greater Mileage in actual use.

A Word With the Man Who is Seeking a Ranch

There are three essential considerations that should enter into the location of the ranch you choose. First, it should appeal to you from a standpoint of happiness, where your family is going to be both comfortable and contented. In the second place, it should appeal to you from a standpoint of health. And in the third place, and more important of all, it should appeal to you from a standpoint of dollars and cents in profit.

Do you know any place in California where you can buy land within four miles of a rapidly growing city of 50,000 people that has doubled its population three times within the past fifteen years? Consider the size of this, your home town. Think what is the cheapest good land, with water, you can buy within four miles of here and you will find that it runs in the neighborhood of at least $500 per acre. Now if you could buy as good or better land that would raise as much or more to the acre, with abundance of water delivered to your land, for a total cost of one dollar per acre per year, regardless of the amount of water you used, and you could buy that land at $200 per acre and be reasonably assured of its netting you 25 per cent a year, you would be interested, would you not? I have exactly the above to offer. In addition it is within four miles of one of the fastest growing cities of 50,000 people in California, with $400,000 already expended in improving this property, with a street car operating every hour to take you into the heart of this city in twenty minutes time, and a fifteen cent fare. Offering the best of stores, churches, schools, theaters, markets and all city comforts, in one of the most healthy sections of this state. You can practically buy this land upon your own terms. I have some exceptional inducements to offer the first 100 settlers. If you are in the market for good land, it will pay you to see me quick.

faith we dare not let up in our diligence, for "the evil one goeth about like a roaring lion seeking whom he might devour."

Following will be the musical program of this coming Sabbath:

GREAT RELIGIOUS "MOVIE"

At the Presbyterian church next Thursday and Friday evenings, July 15 and 16, motion pictures will be shown depicting the great story of Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress." This wonder picture of the world, with the great Spurgeon lecture that accompanies it, arouses, exalts and spiritually uplifts every audience.

The pictures and lecture are complete each night. Open and free to the public, but a silver offering is expected to defray the legitimate expense. This is in no way a money-making project. The officers of the church have secured this most splendid attraction for the good of the entire community.

Recently in Fresno 650 attended the first night, 900 the second night, 1500 the third night and on the fourth night 2100 people attended. The Presbyterian church will accommodate 750. Plan to attend early and secure a good seat. Remember it's open and free to the general public. The dates are July 15 and 16. The place, Presbyterian church, corner of Broadway and Cedar street.

He was burned at the stake 500 years ago on the sixth day of the present month. In many places this five hundredth anniversary is being observed. In addition to the anthem by the choir, Miss Veta Franklin will sing. Miss Franklin is spending her vacation
